

The public relies on all the media for information. I strongly oppose greater media consolidation, which only serves the interest of large corporations, not the public.